

Using the airwaves free by companies is granted only if they leave them open to many varied opinions and many sources of information. If you limit rights to a few large companies, then you should charge them for usage of the public's airwaves. If you change from many to a few owners, change from free to an expensive cost.